Latin Salutatory Oration

Frances Mangina

The Latin salutatory is awarded by vote of the faculty to one of the highest-ranking candidates for bachelor degrees. The special qualifications of a student as salutatorian are taken into account, as well as scholastic standing.

Salutatio

Habita in Comitiiis Academicis Princetoniae ante diem IX Kal. Iun..

Anno MMXXII

Anno Academiae CCLXXV

Discipulos recano, qui primi Princetoniaeque Caesariaeque Novae crocea a bulla patriam atque litora nota domum, fato profugi, venerunt, multum illi caelumque viasque peragrati vi
aestus mortiferi morbi saevique Coronae donec vaccinationem physici reperirent terrarumque vacationem inferrent inde orbi.

Congregemus unum nos in locum, dilectissimi sodales, etiamnunc a crudeli viro disclusi sed non iam interclusi. Canamus uniter res in umbra turrium hedera obsitarum gestas, quas aulae priscae et hunc in annum et pluris resonent.

Bis ignes cumulavimus altaribus festos, ut victoriam nostram de harpasti americani lusoribus vestitu coccineis et caeruleis celebraremus. Per trium semestrium intervallum vitra electrica tuiti sumus sicut Specularii, ut rerum naturam quaereremus. Itinera numero carentia asperos per ventos in pavimentis imbribus inundatis fecimus cenulam a cibo sero aut Wawa desiderantes.
Quorum memores postea multis cum lacrimis cibum frigidum de vasibus conchae similibus edimus.

Discessus noster ab illo campo nobis eripuit non solum societatem amicorum nostrorum sed etiam delectationem in vere, cuius adventu flores horti claro prospectu emergunt et nova proles vulpis sciurique ludit per herbas tonsas campi pillamallei. Hodie autem vere amoeno Princetoniae frui possumus.
Nunc decet viridi academicum caput impedire hedera aut flore croceo. Nunc decet cum amicis diem carpere. Gaudeamus igitur, sodales, recordatione dulci, laetitii praesentibus, et rerum aenigmate futurarum.

Sic paene fatus est poeta sapiens:

O fortes peioraque passi

mecum saepe tigres, nunc vino pellite curas;

cras ingens iterabimus aequor.

Secondary School Teaching Prizes

Recognition, by Provost Deborah A. Prentice, of recipients of prizes for distinguished secondary school teaching in the State of New Jersey.

Deborah Cella

Glen Rock High School
Lead Teacher for Visual and Fine Arts

Deborah Cella has inspired generations of future artists in the Glen Rock School District in a career spanning more than 30 years. She is known for the quality of her teaching and for the care she shows her students. During the height of the pandemic, she assembled bundles of art supplies and delivered them to students' homes, allowing them to actively participate in remote classes. A current student proclaimed her a "creative and essential" pillar in the school community, while a Glen Rock colleague noted "her students' best interests are always at the heart of her discussions, practices and decisions."

Alicia Rodriguez

Kent Place School
Teacher of Mathematics

Alicia Rodriguez engages students at Kent Place School in creative ways to make math real and present in their lives. A pickup game of Nerf basketball in her classroom presents the opportunity to demonstrate how parabolas are graphed. She intuitively adjusts her teaching style to meet her students' needs and "looks for ways to make the material understandable for everyone," a school administrator said. Beyond being an exceptional teacher, she is a treasured role model. One student said, "After knowing her for just a year, she has changed the way I view myself."

Devin Ryan-Pullen

Burlington City High School
Teacher of English

Devin Ryan-Pullen's impact is clearly seen and felt at Burlington City High School, where she has taught English for 18 years and serves as a co-teacher for English Language Learners. Her colleagues commend her ability to make a difference in the lives of children who may face multiple challenges. "Devin never settles; she is always looking for ways to improve the educational experience," a school administrator said. With her classroom discussions, she masterfully draws out students to engage with a variety of literature. One student said, "She teaches in a way that makes students excited to learn."

Leetwaun Snowden

University High School
Lead Teacher and Curriculum Writer, Teacher Academy and Social Studies Education

A graduate of University High School in Newark, Lee Snowden returned to his alma mater as a teacher to "pay it forward" to current students. As the lead teacher and curriculum writer for the school's Teacher Academy, he is helping to build a pipeline for those students to become teachers themselves. "He helps create confident learners, critical thinkers; he is transformational for many of our kids," a school administrator noted. His students call him a "father figure" and value the sense of family he fosters for all: "He always pushes us to do our best, to be something in life and be successful."

The President's Awards for Distinguished Teaching

Recognition, by Dean of the Faculty Gene A. Jarrett of recipients of awards for sustained records of excellence in undergraduate- and graduate-level teaching by Princeton University faculty members.

Anne Cheng

Professor of English

Anne Anlin Cheng's excellence in interdisciplinary research as a comparative race scholar draws on such wide-ranging fields as politics, literary theory, race and gender studies, film and architectural theory, legal studies, psychoanalysis, and critical food studies. An English concentrator who earned her undergraduate degree at Princeton and a faculty member for 16 years, Professor Cheng has inspired generations of students in her home department. A colleague noted that "she is able to teach popular topics without compromising her belief that students thrive when they are confronted with materials that demand a rigorous and sustained conceptual engagement." In addition to her outstanding work in the classroom, she has made an indelible impact on the University's academic offerings, building a curriculum in Asian American studies. A former graduate student said, "I credit her not only with teaching me to think courageously, write creatively, and teach innovatively, but also with teaching me how to occupy academia generously and rigorously."

Peter Ramadge

Gordon Y.S. Wu Professor of Engineering; Professor of Electrical and Computer Engineering

Peter Ramadge has served as an outstanding teacher and mentor for more than 40 years, modeling academic excellence for undergraduate and graduate students. "Peter has been successful at every level of classroom education, from introductory courses through graduate specialties," said a colleague. "His teaching style blends a deep commitment to fundamentals with essential real-world examples, providing students with both a firm grounding and a real sense of how to apply their knowledge." Professor Ramadge is known for his legendary written lecture notes, which he prepares for every class. A former graduate student said, "several of my classmates and I still refer to them, either for work, research or teaching. It takes somebody who truly cares about their students to devote so much time perfecting lecture notes."

Lauren Coyle Rosen

Assistant Professor of Anthropology

A colleague describes Lauren Coyle Rosen as “astonishingly brilliant as she is humble. In the classroom, this combination makes her a masterful and beloved teacher.” A faculty member since 2016, Professor Coyle Rosen is trained as a cultural anthropologist and lawyer. Her research and teaching interests lie at the intersections of legal and political anthropology, comparative religion and spirituality, aesthetics and consciousness, subjectivity and epistemology, and critical theory. Her work focuses primarily on Ghana, Africa and the diaspora, more broadly, as well as on the United States. A former student noted that Professor Coyle Rosen “pushes us to see more than what is visibly on the surface, to read deeply into the ethnographers’ intentions and mindset, to take their shoes and wonder if the paths and methods and ethical stances they took would be the same as our own.”

Matt Weinberg

Assistant Professor of Computer Science

In the five years since he arrived at Princeton, Matt Weinberg has supervised 38 theses and approximately 24 one-semester projects, while also teaching popular computer science courses including “Economics and Computing” and “Advanced Algorithm Design.” In addition to his generosity in simultaneously advising an unusually large number of students, Professor Weinberg also has made significant contributions to facilitating inclusion and improving the department’s climate. He received the Engineering Council’s Excellence in Teaching Award, among other teaching honors. In a letter to the department chair, four former undergraduate students wrote, “Strong students studying computer science or mathematics are especially drawn to working with Matt. This can be attributed to his stellar and engaging teaching, his affable personality and his willingness to simultaneously advise an unusually large number of students.”

Honorary Degrees

Presentation to the president of the candidates for honorary degrees by University Orator and the Chair of the Board of Trustees of Princeton University, Louise S. Sams; conferral of the degrees by the president.

Fred David Gray

Doctor of Laws

Fred David Gray is a nationally recognized civil rights attorney and former Alabama legislator. Practicing law since 1954, he is senior partner in the Tuskegee, Alabama-based law firm of Gray, Langford, Sapp, McGowan, Gray, Gray & Nathanson. Gray is a champion for equality and justice and has provided legal counsel for landmark civil rights cases. He was Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s first civil rights attorney and represented Claudette Colvin and Rosa Parks in 1955 after their arrests for refusing to give up their seats on a Montgomery city bus. He was counsel in preserving and protecting the rights of persons involved in the infamous Tuskegee Syphilis Study. He later helped establish the Tuskegee Human and Civil Rights Multicultural Center, which serves as an educational center and as a memorial to the study participants. Gray represented many other clients in significant civil rights cases, including actions that integrated all state institutions of higher education in Alabama and most of its elementary and secondary schools. Gray also served in the Alabama State Legislature from 1970 to 1974, becoming one of the first two African American legislators in the state since the Reconstruction era. He was the first person of color elected as president of the Alabama Bar Association, serving from 2002 to 2003. His professional affiliations also include the National Bar Association, the National Association of College and University Attorneys, and the American Bar Association, which gave him its Spirit of Excellence Award. Gray is a life member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Alabama State College for Negroes/Alabama State University (B.S., 1951)

Case Western Reserve University (L.L.B., 1954)

He vowed as a law student in the 1950s to “destroy everything segregated” and became, according to his client Martin Luther King Jr., “the chief counsel for the protest movement.” At so many seminal moments of our civil rights era, he was the lawyer: for Rosa Parks and Claudette Colvin, when they refused relegation to the segregated section of the bus; for students unlawfully denied admission to the University of Alabama; for victims of the Tuskegee Syphilis Study. His legacy includes four landmark decisions by the U.S. Supreme Court, hundreds of desegregated schools, and generations of lawyers, activists, and citizens who have heeded his call to “finish the unfinished tasks of destroying discrimination and segregation wherever found.”

Amy Gutmann

Doctor of Laws

Amy Gutmann is the U.S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany. From 2004 to February 2022, she served as president of the University of Pennsylvania, making her the longest-serving president in the history of the university. A leading scholar in democratic political theory and the ethics of public life, Gutmann also served as the Christopher H. Browne Distinguished Professor of Political Science in the School of Arts and Sciences at Penn with secondary appointments in Philosophy, the Annenberg School for Communication and the Graduate School of Education. Gutmann was provost of Princeton University from 2001 to 2004, and served as Princeton's Laurance S. Rockefeller University Professor and the founding director of the University Center for Human Values. First in her family to graduate from college, Gutmann made educational access a top priority, more than doubling the number of students from low-income and first-generation college families at Penn. Named by Fortune in 2018 as one of the “World's 50 Greatest Leaders,” she has served as chair of the Association of American Universities and the U.S. Presidential Commission for the Study of Bioethical Issues. She was a founding member of the Global Colloquium of University Presidents and has served on the boards of the Carnegie Corporation of New York, the Vanguard Corporation and the National Constitutional Center in Philadelphia, among many other leadership and service roles. Gutmann is a member of the American Philosophical Society, as well as a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the National Academy of Education.”

Radcliffe College (B.A., 1971)

London School of Economics (M.S., 1972)

Harvard University (Ph.D., 1976)

The daughter of a German Jewish refugee and the first in her family to graduate from college, she went on to become the longest-serving president in the history of the University of Pennsylvania and, as of earlier this year, the first woman to serve as United States Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany. She is one of the world's preeminent political philosophers, known for her groundbreaking work on democratic political theory and the ethics of public life. A highly regarded leader in collegiate education, she is proudly claimed by Princeton University as its former provost and the Laurance S. Rockefeller University Professor of Politics and the University Center for Human Values, Emerita. Whether as a scholar, a university leader, or a diplomat, she has dedicated her life to expanding access to education, advancing democracy, and serving the nation.

Brent Henry '69

Doctor of Laws

Brent Henry is an attorney and leader in the healthcare industry, with more than 30 years of experience handling complex legal, business and regulatory issues. He currently is a member of the law firm Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Ferris, Glovsky and Popeo P.C. Previously, he was vice president and general counsel of Partners HealthCare, the largest hospital network in New England. In that capacity, Henry oversaw the legal, internal audit, corporate compliance and business ethics departments. He also previously was vice president and general counsel at MedStar Health, a hospital system serving the Baltimore and Washington D.C. area. While at MedStar, Henry taught health care law at both Howard University and the University of Maryland. In addition, he has served as deputy administrator of the New York City Human Resources Administration, where he directed the NYC Medicaid program. He is a past president of the National Health Lawyers Association and has been recognized by numerous professional organizations, including the American Bar Association, the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights and Economic Justice, and the New England Legal Foundation. A graduate of Princeton's Class of 1969, Henry served as one of Princeton's first two Young Alumni Trustees from 1969-1973 and as a Charter Trustee from 1999-2009 and 2010-2020, making him one of the longest-serving trustees in the history of the University. In 2011, he was elected vice chair of the Board of Trustees and from 2015-2016 he chaired the special committee on Woodrow Wilson's legacy. He also is a past chair of the Princeton Alumni Association. His current service includes membership on the boards for the Fiduciary Trust Company and the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

Princeton University (A.B., 1969)
Yale University (M.A. and J.D., 1973)

A powerful proponent for change at Princeton, he launched his dedicated efforts to enhance campus life as an undergraduate leader of the Association of Black Collegians in the late 1960s. Upon graduating, he was elected to serve his alma mater as one of the first two Young Alumni Trustees. What ensued was a lifetime investment of his immeasurable talents to Old Nassau, which he impressively balanced with his decades-long career as one of the nation's leading health care professionals. In both his legal career and his volunteer leadership roles, he has exhibited an unparalleled commitment to equity, integrity, and justice. His passionate and tireless efforts to make Princeton more diverse, more inclusive, and more accessible to people from all backgrounds helped to transform the University—a legacy that will benefit the lives of Princetonians for generations to come.

Eve Marder

Doctor of Science

Eve Marder, the Victor and Gwendolyn Beinfeld University Professor of Biology at Brandeis University, is a pioneering neuroscientist whose work has profoundly changed the understanding of the human brain by gleaned key findings from the study of the small set of neurons in a crustacean's stomach. Her research on the nervous system's basic functions has been recognized with top awards, including the Gruber Neuroscience Prize and the Kavli Prize. She is a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the Institute of Medicine, and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. In 2013, she was appointed to the National Institutes of Health working group for President Obama's BRAIN initiative. She is also a fellow of the Biophysical Society and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Marder also served as president of the Society for Neuroscience in 2008. Her other recognitions include the Miriam Salpeter Memorial Award for Women in Neuroscience, the W.F. Gerard Prize from the Society for Neuroscience, the George A. Miller Award from the Cognitive Neuroscience Society, the Karl Spencer Lashley Prize from the American Philosophical Society, and the Neuroscience Award from the National Academy of Science. Marder started one of the first undergraduate neuroscience programs in the United States and has mentored countless students and early-career researchers, advocating for women, diversity and international representation.

Brandeis University (B.A., 1969)
University of California, San Diego (Ph.D., 1974)

For the past forty years, her patient study of the neurons in a lobster's belly has helped shed light on some of the brain's deepest mysteries. Under her watchful eye, this tiny nervous system has revealed general principles about neural circuits, their complexity, their plasticity, and their ability to adapt to changing environments. She has pioneered methods for observation and analysis, allowing data to drive her questions and intuition to guide her thinking. This extraordinary neuroscientist has helped shape the field itself, as a mentor to generations of researchers, as an advocate for women's voices in science, and as a contributor to national initiatives aimed at revolutionizing our understanding of the human brain. Still, her greatest joy is in the lab, in the continued quest for knowledge. As she observes, "Peeking into the mysteries of life never gets old."

Frederick W. Smith

Doctor of Humane Letters

Frederick W. Smith is the founder, chairman and CEO of FedEx Corporation, the world's leading express transportation provider. Born in Marks, Mississippi, Smith learned to fly a crop duster as a teenager. An experienced pilot by the time he entered Yale University as an undergraduate, Smith wrote an economics term paper that proposed an overnight air courier service. After four years of decorated service in the Marines that included two tours of duty in Vietnam, Smith brought his air courier concept to life with FedEx, which started with a small fleet of jets flying to a handful of cities. Established in 1973 as the air-ground Federal Express network, FedEx has since grown into a $92 billion global enterprise that serves more than 220 countries and territories, handling more than 16.5 million shipments each day. Time magazine named FedEx as one of the 100 most influential companies and Smith has been recognized as a top CEO by Forbes, Barron's and other leading business publications and organizations. Smith is a trustee for the Center for Strategic and International Studies and a member of both the Business Council and Business Roundtable. He also served as chairman of the U.S.-China Business Council, co-chair of the French-American Business Council and on the boards of several large public companies and charitable organizations. He is a member of the Aviation Hall of Fame and the Business Hall of Fame, among many other honors. Smith announced he will step down as CEO of FedEx in June, becoming executive chairman of the company he founded nearly 50 years ago.

Yale University (B.A., 1966)

A Marine Corps veteran who served two tours of duty in Vietnam, earning a Bronze Star, a Silver Star and two Purple Hearts, he predicted the logistical needs of our modern society and found a way to bring us "The World on Time." Building on a paper he wrote as an undergraduate at Yale University and inspired by lessons learned in the military, he launched the Federal Express network in 1973. Under his remarkable leadership over the past 50 years, FedEx has been recognized time and again as one of the world's most influential and admired companies. He inspires others by following his own advice: "Leaders get out in front and stay there by raising the standards by which they judge themselves—and by which they are willing to be judged."

A Commentary on Commencement

Remarks by the President of the University

Christopher L. Eisgruber

Benediction

Theresa S. Thames

Associate Dean of Religious Life and of the Chapel

Alma Mater

Old Nassau

Tune ev'ry heart and ev'ry voice,
Bid ev'ry care withdraw;
Let all with one accord rejoice,
In praise of Old Nassau.

In praise of Old Nassau, we sing,
Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!
Our hearts will give
while we shall live,
Three cheers for Old Nassau.

Recessional

The audience will please remain in place until the academic procession returns to the staging area behind Nassau Hall.

AVETE ATQVE VALETE

Princeton traces its founding to a royal charter granted on October 22, 1746, by King George the Second of England. The first Commencement Exercises were held in 1748, in Newark, then home of the College of New Jersey, as Princeton was originally called. Six students were graduated at the first Commencement. One of Princeton's first graduate students was James Madison 1771, later the fourth president of the United States. He remained at the college after graduation to continue his studies with President John Witherspoon, who was the only college president as well as the only clergyman to sign the Declaration of Independence. Systematic graduate instruction began in the 1870s, and the Graduate School, as it is known today, was formally organized in 1900.

Princeton's Commencements have been held in late spring only since 1844. Before then the ceremony took place in the fall because the College was in session all summer long. Since the College moved to Princeton in 1756, Commencement has been held in a variety of locations on or near campus, including Alexander Hall, the First Presbyterian Church, and Nassau Hall, but in 1922 and until 2019, the front lawn of Nassau Hall (known as front campus) was the site of Commencement, weather permitting. Commencement was held for the first time in Princeton Stadium in May 2021.

The Academic Procession

The academic procession is led by the chief marshal, a member of the faculty appointed to this position by the president. The forming of the procession, the seating of Commencement participants, and other aspects of Commencement Exercises are managed by the faculty marshals and the assistant marshals. Faculty marshals are identified by their unique orange gowns and black 16th-century caps, as is the mace bearer, who carries the ceremonial mace in the academic procession. Assistant marshals, who are members of various University staffs, wear academic gowns and distinctive orange-and-black Da Vinci caps; student ushers wear academic gowns with orange piping and no hoods.

The president of the University wears a special gown, symbolic of that office and of the institutional continuity it represents. The gown is black, trimmed with gold, and faced with the orange of Princeton and of the House of Nassau. The 20 bands of gold lacing on the sleeves of the gown represent the 20 presidents who have guided Princeton since its founding. In order of succession they are Jonathan Dickinson;

Aaron Burr Sr.; Jonathan Edwards; Samuel Davies; Samuel Finley; John Witherspoon; Samuel Stanhope Smith; Ashbel Green; James Carnahan; John Maclean; James McCosh; Francis Landey Patton; Woodrow Wilson; John Grier Hibben; Harold Willis Dodds; Robert Francis Goheen; William Gordon Bowen; Harold Tafler Shapiro; Shirley M. Tilghman; and Christopher L. Eisgruber, who assumed office July 1, 2013.

Academic Dress and Custom

Three major levels of academic achievement are represented by different types of gowns. The doctoral gown is distinguished by its bell-shaped sleeves. Although some universities prescribe a solid color such as red, crimson, or green for their doctoral gowns, in the United States most are black. In some cases the gown's trim matches the edging of the hood, thus indicating the profession or field of major interest. The master's gown is black without trim and is identified by the shape of the oblong sleeve, square at the end and sealed, so that the upper part of the arm comes through a slit in the sleeve. The bachelor's gown, made of black material, has long, pointed sleeves. The gown is generally worn closed. Thanks to the efforts of students, the Graduate School, and the Office of Sustainability, the cap, gown, and tassel for bachelor's and master's degree candidates are made from 100 percent recycled materials and can be recycled after graduation at designated sites throughout campus.

Caps, generally mortarboards with tassels, have their own significance. Some foreign degree holders wear special hats, distinctive to their degree and institution. Master's and bachelor's tassels are black, while the doctor's tassel may be black or gold. The doctoral cap may be made of velvet.

The Use of Latin

In 1748 the exercises were conducted entirely in Latin. Besides the address by the salutatorian "performed in good Latin from his Memory in a handsome oratorical Manner," there were also "publick Disputations in Latin" by all six candidates for the bachelor's degree on six separate questions in philosophy and theology, and "an elegant Oration in the Latin Tongue, delivered memoriter," by Aaron Burr Sr., the second president of the College. Today, Latin is still used by the president in the conferring of degrees and by the salutatorian. Degrees are conferred under the authority of the president and the Trustees, as established in the charter. In token thereof, the president and Trustees wear caps when conferring degrees. Each time a dean or the University orator puts on a cap and goes to the lectern to present candidates for degrees, the Trustees also put on their caps. The president makes appropriate remarks and tips his cap to signify the formal conferral of the degree.

The Latin used by the president in the conferring of degrees is simple and straightforward: Auctoritate mihi a curatoribus Vniversitatis Princetoniensis commissa, vos ad gradum primum in artibus et cum honoribus, ut indicatum est, admitto. “By the authority vested in me by the Trustees of Princeton University, I admit you to the degree of bachelor of arts, with honors as indicated.” The same formula is used for all the other degrees with appropriate amendments.

The Latin Salutatory and the Valedictory

The Latin salutatory is the oldest Commencement honor, dating to the first Commencement in 1748. Some of the most distinguished members of the Princeton faculty were former salutorians, including Henry Burchard Fine, Henry van Dyke, Allan Marquand, William Berryman Scott, Henry Norris Russell, and President Emeritus Robert Francis Goheen.

The valedictory was first awarded as a graduation honor in 1760. Probably the greatest moment ever experienced by a Princeton valedictorian was the one enjoyed by Ashbel Green in 1783. The Continental Congress held some of its meetings that year in the library room of Nassau Hall. It adjourned its sessions to attend Commencement. Green concluded his valedictory with an address of some length to George Washington, who was present. “The next day,” Green later recorded, “General Washington met me in the entry of the College as he was going to a committee-room of Congress, took me by the hand, walked with me a short time, flattered me a little, and desired me to present his best respects to my classmates, and his best wishes for their success in life. There has never been such an audience at a Commencement before and perhaps there never will be again.” Later, in 1812, Ashbel Green became Princeton’s eighth president.

Academic Honors

Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is based on general academic performance throughout the college course and through election by the society. Membership in Sigma Xi is accorded in science and engineering. Undergraduates who show promise in scientific and engineering research are elected to associate membership. The national engineering society, Tau Beta Pi, has a chapter at Princeton to which certain candidates for the B.S.E. degree are admitted in recognition of superior scholarship.

The first honorary degree given by Princeton was master of arts honoris causa, conferred at the first Commencement upon Jonathan Belcher, governor of the Province of New Jersey and promoter and benefactor of the College, who secured its second charter. The Trustees sought to honor him further in 1756 by proposing to name the College’s first building for him. He declined and suggested instead that it be named in honor of William III, “a branch of the illustrious House of Nassau.”

Today candidates for honorary degrees are selected by a committee made up of Trustees and members of the University community. The criteria used in the committee’s deliberations include genuine achievement and distinction in an activity consonant with the mission of the University; the advancement of learning in the arts, sciences, and technology, and for the public welfare; and distinguished contribution in elective, appointive, or career service notable for demonstrated qualities of intellect as well as character. Candidates must be approved by a vote of four-fifths of the Board of Trustees present and voting.

President of the University Christopher L. Eisgruber

Christopher Ludwig Eisgruber was elected Princeton University’s 20th president on April 21, 2013, and assumed office on July 1, 2013. A renowned constitutional scholar, he served as a member of the Princeton faculty for 12 years and as Princeton’s provost for nine years before being named president.

Eisgruber received his A.B. in physics from Princeton in 1983, graduating magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. He then earned an M.Litt. in politics at the University of Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar, and a J.D. cum laude at the University of Chicago Law School, where he served as editor-in-chief of the law review. After clerking for U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Patrick Higginbotham and U.S. Supreme Court Justice John Paul Stevens, he taught at New York University’s School of Law for 11 years.

In 2001, Eisgruber joined the Princeton faculty as the director of the Program in Law and Public Affairs and the Laurance S. Rockefeller Professor of Public Affairs in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs and the University Center for Human Values. He directed Princeton’s Program in Law and Public Affairs from 2001 to 2004, and he served for a year as acting director of the Program in Ethics and Public Affairs in 2002–03.

In addition to writing and editing several books and publishing numerous articles on constitutional issues, Eisgruber has testified multiple times before legislative bodies on the issue of religious freedom. His books include Constitutional Self-Government (2001); Global Justice and the Bulwarks of Localism: Human Rights in Context (edited with Andras Sajó, 2005); Religious Freedom and the Constitution (with Lawrence Sager, 2007); and The Next Justice: Repairing the Supreme Court Appointments Process (2007). In 2014, he was elected to membership in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.
